

PRODUCT FEATURES

The fridge section is for short term food storage. Although low temperatures can be maintained, extended periods of food storage are not recommended.

As the cold air circulates within the fridge, the temperature can vary between the different sections. As such, foods should be stored in different sections according to type.

Note: Above picture is for reference only. The actual appliance maybe slightly different.

INSTALLING YOUR NEW REFRIGERATOR

Space Requirement

A (mm)	B (mm)
820-870	822-872

